

Jon Aikman

Mediation experience

Jon is an accredited commercial mediator after having qualified with two prestigious mediation institutions in the UK. He mediates over a wide range of civil/commercial disputes but due to his extensive experience within the industry, Jon specialises in construction and building disputes (including architectural, engineering, and tenant disputes).

He also currently sits on the panel for the Department of Culture and Local Government as a mediator for planning approvals and is a volunteer community mediator for Bristol Mediation.

Professional experience

Jon currently works as an Independent Project Management Consultant in the construction industry and has held this position for the last nine years. Aside from the obvious expert knowledge of the construction industry, Jon's role also involves conflict management and dispute avoidance within this sector.

Previous to this, Jon worked for the Bedfordshire County Council as Senior Capital Projects Officer where he was responsible for all capital budget funds, monitoring performance of partner contractors and acting as client's representative on all tendered works.

Other information

Jon is a member of the following organisations:

- The Society of Construction Law
- The Civil Mediation Council
- The Association of South West Mediators
- The Expert Witness Institute