

Ingemar Hunnings

Mediation Approach

Ingemar is outcomes driven, with a focus on getting the parties to a mutually acceptable settlement, if they can. He is empathetic, creative and proactive in moving things forward. Given his litigation experience he is aware of the impact that a trial can have on the parties and the interplay of legal costs on the overall dispute. He runs his own business and so is aware of the issues involved in business and commerce.

Professional Experience

Ingemar practiced as a civil litigation solicitor for 24 years, 14 of these as an equity partner; he was a Board Member and Head of a department of 60 staff with a £4.5m turnover. He was compliance officer and in charge, amongst other things, of sourcing work and managing relationships with the suppliers. During his professional career as a solicitor he brought to conclusion over 1,500 disputes – the vast majority through a negotiated settlement. Since leaving private practice he has run his own consultancy, assisting over 150 small businesses with how they run their business.
